

NY ABLE Accounts

- The eligible individual is the account owner and the beneficiary of the account.
- One ABLE account per beneficiary is permitted.
- Annual contributions are capped at $15,000 a year and are not tax deductible. Account owners who are income earners can make additional contributions up to the federal poverty line for a one-person household ($12,060 in 2018) or their income for the year, whichever is less.⁴
- 529 college savings plan account owners may rollover 529 plan assets to an ABLE account of the 529 Plan beneficiary (or the beneficiary's family member) with no federal tax impact, subject to annual ABLE contribution caps and other considerations.⁵
- The maximum account balance is $100,000.
- Withdrawals may be made as qualified disability expenses occur.

⁴ Important additional information is available at mynyable.org. Please make sure you understand all of the requirements that apply.

⁵ The New York Department of Tax and Finance issued a Preliminary Report stating that it is possible any rollover from a 529 college savings plan account to a NY ABLE account would not be a New York State taxable event. We encourage NY 529 and NY ABLE account owners to consult a qualified tax advisor about their personal situation.
